

PROFESSIONAL SERVICES

WHO IS AVFINITY®?

AvFinity® offers the most modern data communications technology available to the aviation industry. The company's network, known as the AvFinity® Secure Messaging Suite (ASMS)™, is powered by the company's patent-pending software technology. Approximately 3% of the world's companies involved in aviation messaging use the foundation software to route, manage and format mission-critical messages.

AvFinity® services include:

- Professional services
- APIS submissions through a direct connection to U.S. Customs and Border Protection (CBP)
- Flight plan filing, NO-TAMs, and AFTN messaging through a direct connection to the FAA's NADIN II
- IATA Type B messaging with double-digit message savings and elimination of connection costs when sent on-network
- Faxing
- Secure email

Visit www.avfinity.com for more information

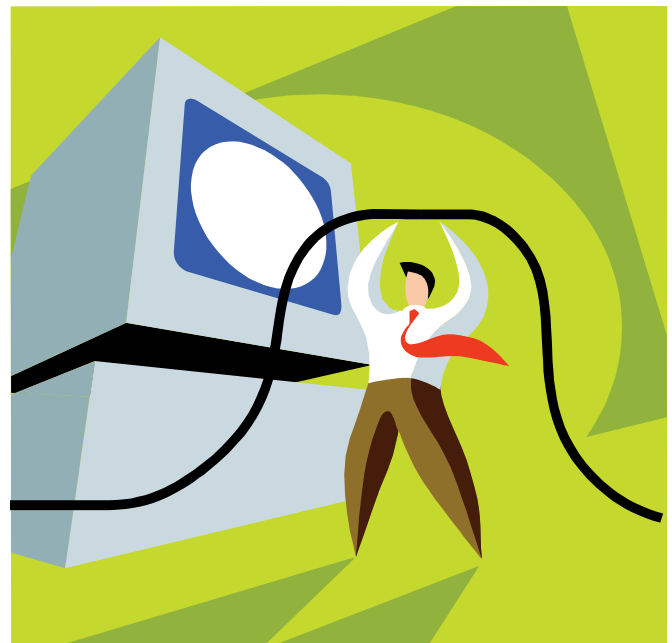

AVFINITY® HELPS AEROSPACE COMPANIES ACHIEVE IT EFFICIENCIES

Aerospace companies can cut mission-critical communications expenses significantly with the AvFinity® Professional Services team.

The team, headed by AvFinity® CTO Steve D. Perkins, Senior Systems Engineer Ben C. Newcomb and Senior Systems Analyst John Q. Quintanilla have more than 75 years combined experience in aerospace communications and information technology.

"We launched this new division because many aerospace companies find it difficult to connect legacy technology to modern systems for data communications," says Steve D. Perkins, AvFinity® founder and chief technical officer.

"We provide aerospace companies with unique expertise that achieves technology efficiency and cost-savings for our customers."

The AvFinity® team offers more targeted knowledge, more solid aerospace communications expertise, and more rapid solutions than any other outsourced alternative, whether domestic or foreign.

For more information on how the AvFinity® Professional Services team can help solve your IT problems, contact Steve Perkins, the AvFinity® chief technical officer, at 409/939-6273 or sdp@avfinity.com.

HOW AVFINITY® PROFESSIONAL SERVICES HELP SOLVE YOUR IT DILEMMAS

Aerospace companies will find the AvFinity® areas of expertise beneficial to many of the most frustrating communications problems. The team specializes in understanding Type B messaging, working with multiple network protocols including MQ, and providing solutions for data conversion and backend integration.

The AvFinity® team can optimize existing IT to achieve significant cost savings and higher operational efficiency.

Savings of 30 percent or more are also available via the AvFinity® Secure Messaging Suite™ (ASMS™) for customers seeking the most cutting edge, disruptive communications technology available.